PAT MOONEY SURPRISES HIS FRIENDS SATURDAY

The greatest surprise of the year was sprung Saturday evening when Pat Mooney, the public spirited restaurateur, was married to Miss Marion Fellows, formerly of California, who has been associated with him in business in Tonopah for the past two years, and who has won hosts of friends since coming to this camp. The wedding was a quiet affair, attended by a few intimate friends. Yesterday morning Mrs. Mooney left for San Francisco with little Jack Mooney, whom she took out for an operation, recommended by local surgeons, to overcome the results of a fracture sustained by the boy two weeks ago when he was injured by stepping from an automobile in motion.

MAN SERIOUSLY HURT

ENEMIES TO SUCCESS.

Learn to Avoid Timidity, Shyness or Self Consciousness.

Timidity, shyness and self consciousness belong to the same family. We usually find all where we find any one, and they are all enemies of peace of mind, happiness and achievement. No one has ever done a great thing while his mind was centered upon himself. We must lose ourselves before we can find ourselves. Self analysis is valuable only to learn our strength; it is fatal if it makes us dwell upon our weaknesses.

Timid, shy people are morbidly self conscious. They think too much about themselves. Their thoughts are turned inward; they are always analyzing, dissecting themselves, wondering how they appear and what people think of them. If these people could only forget themselves and think of others they would be surprised to see what freedom, ease and grace they would gain, what success in life they would achieve.

Thousands of young people are held back from undertaking what they long to do and are kept from trying to make real their great life dreams because they are afraid to jostle with the world. They shrink from exposing their sore spots and sensitive points, which smart from the lightest touch. Their super-sensitiveness makes cowards of them.—O. S. Marden.

OIL UPON THE WATERS.

Why It Tames the Billows and Calms the Troubled Sea.

Waves in midocean are caused entirely by the action of the wind. The adhesion between the rapidly moving particles of air which compose the wind and the surface particles of the water causes the water's surface to be dragged along with the air. Small ripples are immediately formed. These ripples soon overtake others near them. They unite, and, due to the friction between the water particles, each succeeding ripple piles up on the top of previous ones.

Just as soon as oil is spread upon the water, however, the size of the waves is reduced like magic. The reason for this is interesting. Oil, unlike water, has very little internal friction between its particles. The ripples of oil formed by the wind therefore cannot pile upon each other to any considerable height; hence water waves cannot grow in an area of oil placed about a steamer. They begin to fall down instead. By the time these waves reach the boat they will have lost their formative ripples, and the result is a perfectly calm surface over the portion of the sea through which the boat is making its way.—Popular Science Monthly.

OUR NATIONAL ANTHEM.

Rules That Army Men Must Always Obey When It Is Played.

In view of the fact that many persons appear doubtful as to proper action when "The Star Spangled Banner" is played the army regulations, applying to members of the army only, are here presented:

Paragraph 378.—Whenever the national anthem is played at any place where persons belonging to the military service are present all officers and enlisted men not in formation shall stand at attention and face toward the music, except retreat, when they shall face toward the flag. If in uniform, covered or uncovered, or in civilian clothes, covered or uncovered, they shall salute at the first note of the anthem, retaining the position of salute until the last note of the anthem.

"If not in uniform, covered, they shall uncover at the first note of the anthem, holding the headress opposite the left shoulder, and so remain until its close, except that in inclement weather the headress may be held slightly raised.

"When played by any army band the national anthem shall be played through without repetition of any part not required to be repeated to make it complete.

"Paragraph 204.—The playing of the national anthem of any country as part of a medley is prohibited."

No Parallels in Nature.

The wise men say there are no parallels in nature, that no one thing in the wide universe exactly mates and matches any other one thing, that each cloud has differed from every other cloud form in any hour of the day and night or day or yesterday, and so on back through the forgotten centuries, and no two leaves in form, color or texture lift the same faces to the sun on any day of the millions of years; that no wave on any beach curves and falls as any wave has curved and fallen before, not since this planet cooled. And so it is with the whirls and the crystals of driving snow, with the sand, and splash of rain and so, too, with the flight of birds, the dash and tumble of the restless brook and the roar of lawless thunder and the cry of birds.—F. Hopkinson Smith.

Ireland's Shamrock.

The shamrock of Ireland is an indigenous species of clover which trails along the ground among the grass in meadows. The trefoil leaves are not more than one-fourth the size of the smallest clover in America and are pure green in color, without any of the brown shading of white and pink flowers. The creeping stem is hard and fibrous and is difficult to dislodge from the earth. On St. Patrick's day the true shamrock has to be searched out from among the grass, for though comparatively plentiful at that season, it grows close to the ground. Later it bears a tiny blossom.

AMUSEMENTS

AMUSEMENTS

The author of the "Clover's Rebellion" is James Oliver Curwood. The heroine of his story is a young girl from the south who is adopted by her wealthy aunt, an ambitious lady with a determination to marry her niece to a poverty-stricken duke and perhaps become the aunt of a future queen. The girl's uncle also has matrimonial plans for her. A certain gentleman named Raine wants Clover to marry his son and, as the uncle is under financial obligations to him, the boy gets his support. But uncle and aunt have reckoned without Clover. She chooses a third suitor herself, a good looking young doctor with no patients, and the owner of a battered but trustworthy Ford that helps him to win the heiress and is second only to the doctor at furnishing the laughs. The story permits Anita Stewart to give the screen one of those fresh, unaffected American girls she does so well. Julia Swayne Gordon helps to make this feasible story. See the bathing suit parade and many other incidents of interest in Pathe Weekly today at the Butler. Tomorrow Marguerite Clark in Snow White.
